Bruce Cortalano, Assistant Principal

December 8, 2015

Dear parent or guardian,

I hope you are enjoying a smooth start to the new school year. My name is Ryan Lawler and I am honored to have been chosen as principal of Marlboro High School. Marlboro has a tradition of excellence and a rich history of helping students on their path to becoming responsible citizens. I am eager to work with students, staff, and all of you to help your children reach their full potential.

Before coming to Marlboro High School as principal, I worked as an assistant principal and as a school counselor. My experiences in education, and as a father, have reinforced my student centered foundation. I believe learning should be at the core of all student experiences. I look forward to working with the students, Marlboro staff, and you to make sure we help our students achieve greatness academically and in life by striving for constant improvement.

In the coming weeks I will work with the school community, students and staff to understand Marlboro's values and expectations. To this end, feel free to share with me what is best about our school and any ideas you have to help make our school better. My contact information is located at the bottom of this letter. I am also available via email at ryan.lawler@marlboroschools.org. Communicating with you is very important to me. Even more important is your ability to communicate with me and the staff here at the High School so feel free to contact me regarding your children or any other matters related to our work together. I look forward to working with all of you in our quest as we help the children of Marlboro High School in their "Pursuit of Excellence".

Sincerely,

Ryan Lawler
Principal
